

Abstract of the Disclosure

An apparatus and method for enhancing the quality of reproduced images are provided. More specifically, provided are an apparatus and method for enhancing the quality of reproduced, progressive images, which are capable of obtaining more natural and smoother progressive images and preventing such problems as blurry colors and aliased images that could be brought about in the process of converting interlaced images into progressive images.